i don't wanna spend my time thinking of a life that could be mine get in the car and set me free and do something that's good for me i got my foot down thoughts round a good tune kicking out a good sound and it makes me wonder what it's gonna be when this place is a memory i'm just cruising away

got my ton of thoughts and i'll use them today with my strengths and troubles i can keep them at bay cos i am just cruising away the road here is my leading ground to where a better place be found on my way to somewhere good it makes me feel just like i should i mean, lie down, right hand (?) troubles get up just where over town (?) and i aint gonna be that fool controlled by other people's rules

i just wanna be myself for my wealth
i don't wanna lose my health cos i'm stressin' why should i waste my time? just like looking out for me was a crime what people don't realise about me is i don't give a damn about the politics sitting round talking with my friends are making fuss together they must learn i'm not about to turn to listening (?)
i'm just gonna get in my car cruise to my blues have gone afar

live my life like i was a star leave my small time troubles in a small time bar those who impose on you how to feel don't really matter cos they just aint real we're not far away, and i've cut my deal i'll be happy, like when i'm behind the wheel

cos i am just cruising away x4
