I want to tell you what I am and what we're doing here.
Because this is a memory that's soon to be unclear.
I never keep things the same.
So hold on, cause it's about to all change.

You gave me what I needed then,
Needed when we knew
Who we were and what we stood for what this was for.
I, I don't know why I have changed
But I, I wish that you felt the same.

I wish I was like all the rest,
Able to stay in love,
But something always creeps on in
And takes away what's us.
[x2]

This all feels so very simple, simple to believe.
Crazy as it seems I never thought it could be me.
Looking back I see this wasn't meant to be.

I wish I was like all the rest,
Able to stay in love,
But something always creeps on in
And takes away what's us.
[x2]

I think I need a little time to,
Oh I need to find a way to get myself back in.
Just for the touch, a little not too much, just for the touch.

I wish I was like all the rest,
Able to stay in love,
But something always creeps on in
And takes away what's us.
