after the sun's gone down 2 vapour trails cross the sky catching the day's last slow goodbye black skyline looks rich as velvet something is shining
like gold but better
rumours of glory

smiles mixed with curses the crowd disperses about whom no details are known each one alone yet not alone behind the pain/fear etched on the faces
rumours of glory (repeat)

you see the extremes of what humans can be?
in that distance some tension's born energy surging like a storm you plunge your hand in and draw it back scorched beneath it's shining like gold but better
rumours of glory

(Burritts Rapids December 31/79)
