Corrosion Of Confirmity "Wishbone"

Visit "Wishbone" on MotoLyrics.com torn from within disciple until the end wasting time is how it's always been kiss the floor steal the key lock the door there's many ways to decline bonefide crucified in your prime that you left behind...

twighlight explodes in my time of the blind you can't postpone some tomorrow just one more wishbone broken days pumping through your veins shattered thoughts are gone but the reflection always stays losing sight losing sight without a fight that once was a war now you got 1000 scars and nothing to show them for

twighlight explodes in my time of the blind you can't postpone some tomorrow just one more wishbone in between surrender sight unseen split the seam when no one intervenes feel the kick from the hearless heretic that once made you shine now you're grounded down for the last time shut your eyes to the crime

twighlight explodes in my time of the blind you can't postpone some tomorrow just one more wishbone

just one more wishbone

Visit Corrosion Of Confirmity page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.