she wouldn't need to be a bird without a wing or be a servant to a telephone ring she could be sleeping in the comfort of another bed
it wouldn't matter to a man with an open heart
here comes right now...

she could be moody, dramatic as a play or be evasive as a shadow in the shade could be irregular and singing in her underwear...
it wouldn't matter to a man with an open heart
here comes right now...

her wild and wise womanly introspectiveness
her faults and files of foolishness... wouldn't matter to a man with an open heart...
