"Sunset"

What people talk about relates to their confusion
Sing the words that try to express your deep emotions.

Just take a moment to remember when you felt the rain
Just take a moment to come across the silly strain.

Second time around what counts is your illusion.
The applause is coming now it is the worst delusion.

The eyes of the beholder can really let you down.
Close your eyes again spread your wings and fly away.

Enjoy the sunset now embrace the present together
Destroy the anger now and be stronger than ever.
There's nothing to withhold
Is there anything to lose?
There's nothing to lose
Don't lose your precious time again.
