Have I lost my direction?
Hold my breath 'till my heart won't beat
Should I ask you the question?
It's burning inside me

You're everything that I'd love to hate
I'm pulling teeth just to compensate

(These confessions they don't take away your lies)

This could be the day that I die now (all in my head)
Haunted by the things that I've done
And things I've said
You were there for me
Like I'm there for you

This time bomb is fire
These lies that burn on my tongue
I'll pass on desire
This could be our last goodbye so
Look around fade the voices (inside your head)
Close your eyes choose your poison (and suffer instead)

(In spite of everything)
This could be the day that I die now (all in my head)
Haunted by the things that I've done
And things I've said
You were there for me
Like I'm there for you

The less that we remember
The less we can forget to hold on hold on
The less that we remember
The less we can forget to hold on hold on

(In spite of everything)
This could be the day that I die now (all in my head)
Haunted by the things that I've done
And things I've said
You were there for me
Like I'm there for you

This could be the day that I die now
Like I'm there for you
