40 billion burgers is it really true?
Well, I ate a few.
Well, how 'bout you?

Countless cokes and chocolate shakes
and french fries, too.
What could I do? I needed you.

You were the only girl in life I could see,
You'd wear your uniform and smile at me.
At me.

Every time I'd order I would feel so dumb.
I'd want to run, but I would stay.

Can I have a thousand cups and straws to go?
You'd just say, "No!" and "Go away!"

I tried to show you how I really feel.
And in the process I would eat a quick meal.
A meal.

40 billion burgers is it really true?
Is my love for you just like fast food?
To you plan to cast me off like a carry out?
Did you wear me out? Are we now through?

You were the only girl in life I could see.
You'd wear your uniform and smile at me.
At me.
