If I lived in a world where light is not a feature
Id feel lost and afraid as if you were not here
Id float around in this lake of dark whirling water
Searching for the diamonds that shine above my head
I see your reflection through a transparent mirror
Then you pulled me under and you filled me with light

Youre holding me down
Im drowning in a fear of Losing sight of light
2Your touch I cannot feel
Pick me up
Save me from the fear of
Sinking to the bottom my thoughts are so unclear

Now I live in a world
Thats brighter than the sunlight
And my life has opened up because I have finally found you
I can swim pretty deep now, I hold the diamonds in my hand

The waves are crashing harder but together we still stand
I clearly see your face, its staring back at me
You have saved my life and now Im finally free

Youre holding me down
Im drowning in a fear of
Losing sight of light
Your touch I cannot feel
Pick me up
Save me from the fear of
Sinking to the bottom my thoughts are so unclear
And your not here

Drowning, I can see you up above
Drowning I know weve had enough
X2

Youre holding me down
Im drowning in a fear of

Losing sight of light
Your touch I cannot feel
Pick me up
Save me from the fear of
Sinking to the bottom my thoughts are so unclear
And your not here
