"Alone"

He called the shots, he called the angry shots
He lost his nerve, he lost his whole world
He could not speak for he might fail her
He's so alone, so alone, so alone.

He asked for help, he could not help himself
He asked for hope, he made his own wealth
He gripped the wall, he gripped the wire
He's so alone, so alone, so alone.

There's always time enough to heal, moral to reveal
I'll bet you all you got that you'll never miss a thing
Never miss a thing

And no matter how you feel, nobody wants to kill
It's okay to let it go, you'll never miss a thing
Never miss a thing

Oh but watch, he stopped to feel
He broke the code, he torn the seal
He took command, he would not fail her
Now he's not alone, not alone, not alone.

There's always time enough to heal, moral to reveal
I'll bet you all you got that you'll never miss a thing
Never miss a thing

And no matter how you feel, nobody wants to kill
It's okay to let it go, you'll never miss a thing
Never miss a thing
