Paul Foglino

please stop talking, we know where we went wrong don't convince me, it won't matter when you're gone i remember how it was, i don't want to reminisce you don't have to set me straight, i don't want to learn from this please stop talking
i don't need to know the reason why
please stop talking
you should've stopped talking when you said goodbye break out the sticks and stones, that's how it's supposed to be tell your brothers what i did, tell them instead of telling me you can stab me in the back some day, you can drown me in your tears i don't care if you poison me, just don't pour it in my ears please stop talking, you can save your breath you never told me this before, you don't have to worry me to death if i could get a word in here, if i could have one final wish i'd wish you only loved me half as much as you're enjoying this
