What's the use in trying to convince you
I was never wrong
You never understand where I'm coming from
Even when I don't belong

So here's to another night wasted, my life disgraced
I throw away everything meaningful to me
Is this my destiny?

Waste into a new days redemption
One that will victimize my demoralized reason
To cut the tether and lose everything I ever knew
I can't sit back and let it pass me by

Pushing into a new found glory
With the changing of the seasons
Pushing out to my own story

Destiny is just a diversion
From this path I've chosen
I refuse to forge my life
Into something I know it's not
I'll walk alone until I'm broken
I'll walk alone until I'm broken

Fabricate new ways to be myself
Create a construct of optimistic integration
Stand and defy all but what I choose
Forge a new life and let the old one die

Pushing into a new found glory
With the changing of the seasons
Pushing out to my own story

Destiny is just a diversion
From this path I've chosen
I refuse to forge my life
Into something I know it's not
I'll walk alone until I'm broken
I'll walk alone until I'm broken

I don't know where I belong

Destiny is just a diversion
From this path I've chosen
I refuse to forge my life
Into something I know it's not
I'll walk alone until I'm broken
I'll walk alone until I'm broken
