Set our sights on the horizon
A grip of stone and a stare of steel
Eyes awakened, now determined
We... ride

Carve our name
At the start of this path
And never look behind

This conquest is all that really matters
This will won't shatter underneath the weight
Of this endless journey
Of this war born trail
Through darkness and obscurity and loss
We will prevail

One last chance to prove to struggle on
And to conquer the ground on which we walk upon

Collide, with every hindrance in sight
And stoke these flames that burn inside

This will be remembered
A heart filled with vindication
This won't be forgotten: volition
Through hell we battle on

Strip yourself of apathy
Take everything you don't need and throw it all away
No one can shake this
Now I know what I am worthy of
Now I know what I am worthy of

And I'll scrape my bones on this fractured earth
Before I give in
And I'll scrape my bones on this fractured earth
Before I give in

The world will see chaos

Vo-li-tion

An idea transcended into life
An idea transcended into life

The storm that shatters the mountain
Can not shatter this will
War born, unbroken
We rise above the flames

This will be remembered
A heart filled with vindication
This won't be forgotten: volition
Through hell we battle on

Through hell we battle on
We battle on
Through hell we battle on
