

5 Stars For Failure "Same Old Story"

Visit "Same Old Story" on MotoLyrics.com

I ask how you've been lately
I hear the same old story
The whole world's out to get you
Nothing goes right
You answer all my questions
With things that scream depression
Locked up in pessimism
Get me out of this hell

Me I've got my smile
And you you've got your frown
I found out why I like you
Your worst brings out the best in me
I get so tired of your point of view
Optimism has never been a choice for you

Hey! Look at the sunset
It is so beautiful yet
All you can think about is
Mother nature's imperfections
Your live's evaluations
A pessimistic proqramation
That attitude will get you no where
You just received 5 stars for failure

Me I've got my smile
And you you've got your frown

I found out why I like you
Your worst brings out the best in me
I get so tired of your point of view
Optimism has never been a choice for you

Would a smile put you six feet under ground
Would your state of mind
Dig your grave for you
You always see the down side
You couldn't look up
Even if you tried
Would a smile put you six feet under ground
Would your state of mind
Dig your grave for you

You always see the down side
You couldn't look up
Even if you tried

Me I've got my smile
And you you've got your frown
I found out why I like you
Your worst brings out the best in me
I get so tired of your point of view
Optimism has never been a choice for you
