On solid fuel and wires
Turn the key and the light the fires.
We're leaving Earth today
The rockets burning bright
We'll soon be out of sight
And orbiting in space
Pushed back in my seat
Look out my window
There goes home

That ball of shiny blue houses everybody anybody ever knew
So sing your song I'm listening out where stars are glistening
I can hear your voices bouncing off the moon
If you could see our Nation from the international space station
You'd know why I want to get back soon (get back soon)

Eighteen thousand miles an hour
Fueled by science and solar power
The oceans racing past
At half a thousand tons
Ninety minutes Moon to Sun
A bullet can't go half this fast

Floating from my seat
Look out my window
There goes Home (There goes home)
That brilliant ball of blue
Is where I'm from, and also where I'm going to

So sing your song I'm listening out where stars are glistening
I can hear your voices bouncing off the moon
If you could see our Nation from the international space station
You'd know why I want to get back soon (get back soon)

All back and white just fades to grey
Where the sunrises sixteen times a day
You can't make out borders from up here
Just a spinning ball within a tiny atmosphere (atmosphere)

Pushed back in the seat
Look out my window
Here comes home (ho-ho-home)
What once was fueled by fear
Now has fifteen Nation orbiting together here.

So sing your song I'm listening out where stars are glistening
I can hear your voices bouncing off the moon
If you could see our Nation from the international space station
You'd know why I want to get back soon (get back soon)

You'd know why I want to get back soon (getting back to you)
You'd know why I want to get back soon (getting back to you)
You'd know why I want to get back soon (getting back to you)
You'd know why I want to get back soon
