I can fake it for a while
Till I fall apart in style
After all rock bottoms not too far down
A little heartache, a little pain
A little stick opens the vein
A dash of salt for the wound barely makes a sound

(Chorus)

I'm not ashamed of being afraid of losing you
What more can I lose?
But it's
A Cheaters game just breaking me down
When I'm broken in two
Is that so easy to do?

(I) Come running every time you call
I catch you when you fall
I remember every little line on your face
I get it
It's plain to see
In every way that she ain't me
But did you really have to take me down this way?

(Chorus)

You had to let me down
Why'd you have to let me down?

(Chorus)

I come running every time you call
I catch you when you fall
I remember every little line on your face.
