

Langhorne Slim & The Law

"Great Divide"

Visit "Great Divide" on MotoLyrics.com

Everyone said that the sky is falling, telephone rings, its your mother calling to see if were alright Everyone here seems so nervous and I tell myself it aint worth it to be so uptight

I read the magazines, I watch the television, and I'm surprised the Earths still spinning at all but the sun still shines

I fill literal needs, fill your prescription, fall asleep to the ammunition's lullabye

Well the lines been drawn, All hells been left, but you can't always eat what your fed

We're lost, we're lost, were lost in the great divide

Everyone says that the sky is fallin', were looking for the sound of a higher calling How do you sleep at night?

Well Its talk talk talk but nobodies listening, I got a hunch, I got a suspicion that its just a matter of time Well it seems to me we received the proof if theres a heaven its fucking huge

Were lost, were lost, were lost in the great divide.

Visit Langhorne Slim & The Law page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.