There are flowers of amazing colours, butterflies,
fluffy clouds there.
There are waterfalls, exciting singing birds and palm trees,
magic everywhere.
There are sandy beaches, ocean waves, gorgeous sunsets,
beauty everywhere.
There are alluring stars, harmony, romantic,
inspiration there.

Through all the noise I hear the voice
Giving me the courageous wings.
I close my eyes and realize
This is the world of dreams.

I am standing at the mirror looking at my face
from the other side.
Through the staring eyes it can help to understand what's going on inside.
I don't know whether people see the same in me
what I see or not.
If I dream much more than many other people,
if I feel too much then what?

Through all the noise I hear the voice
Giving you the courageous wings.
Just close your eyes and realize

This is the world of dreams.

When you sleep, you can imagine anything you want,
realize your dream.
You can be any person, you are free to paint your life,
you can fly or swim.

Through all the noise you hear the voice
Giving you the courageous wings.
Just close your eyes and realize
This is the world of dreams.

What can give more energy: illusions or wind,
water and sunbeams?
What is more real: the world of reality or the world of exciting dreams?

Through all the noise I hear the voice
Giving me the courageous wings.
I close my eyes and realize
This is the world of dreams.

Through all the noise you hear the voice
Giving you the courageous wings.
Just close your eyes and realize
This is the world of dreams.
