If you want I'll name each piece of falling sand and I will never forget recall each one as it is slipping through my hands the price I pay to forgive the question mark that paused and stopped ridiculous
I'll understand if you're dead

ending of the end
long passed the point where we have to pretend
ending of the end
no one knows where to go so they just spin
ending of the end,
life gets the last laugh then it presses send
ending of the end
fight with the hourglass and see who wins

I had a thought that stuck and simply wouldn't end it's made a mess in my head, I sat for hours and thought and never would it bend just like the words that you said the open mouth, the dreadful shout comes rushing in an unoriginal sin

ending of the end
got nowhere to go so we just spin
ending of the end,
life gets the last laugh then it presses send
ending of the end
fight with the hourglass and see who wins

when dark is lost look what you wrought see what you did it gives me reason to live the open lock, the untied knot, the impulses the rarest happy ending
