"Site Of Suffering"

Inside this room all of my dreams become realities and some of my realities become nightmares on elm Like a lion dying to kill in the wilderness with out hopeless heart
this beautiful cycle of life will shred all to flames

A free less arraignment entombed in my life of selfish pain
sitting in shackles dwelling of vindication shattered bones scattered throughout the abyss take me away from the site of suffering when will I reign to redemption I'm dying to kill in the wilderness

Burn all this bullshit Bury me divine
I come to dwell in my own mind with a hopeless heart and soul
I will not fall from Grace
