"Years Of Drought"

Been spending our whole life just waiting
In slumber, in famine
We're just fading
Wet dreamy night where are you now
Where do you stand now
Where do you pour now
Come freeze away
That hazy sun nailing our eyes
That shiny warm weakening our minds
There's gonna be me and you
As we're gonna rain.

Wet redemption
Embrace me,
My love, rain
Freeze my burning lips.

Once she said what if I die
And become rain with my thoughts
Well if you're rain
I'm sure, I'll be the clouds.

Been spending my last years just sitting
In silence, in famine
I was fading
Carbon dioxide you're not here now
Where do you stand now
Where do you seethe now
Come freeze away
This endless war bombing my nerves
This arid death deafening my ears
There's gonna be me and you
Cold, glorious, alive.
