My life is changing I'm rearranging
The pieces of my life that don't fit anymore
The memories that we've had...
Some were good, but most were sad
Looking back on what's happened, but the memories fade
I realize I messed up
Why can't you forgive me?
I'm sitting all alone and you won't answer the phone
Said it all before, you don't care anymore
Lost cause? I think not. Maybe you just forgot.
What it's like to be me, with all our painful memories
Now I know why best friends aren't girlfriends
It's been so long since we got along at all
You've wrecked my life before

My head hurts and my heart's still sore
I'm happier with her, sorry for ditching you
I'm getting on with life, being wrong never felt so right
She's everything to me, everything you could never be Where did things go wrong?
The story tears on and on
You said things wouldn't work, but you never tried Trust me, I'll never forget you and all the things that you do
But I'll have to give up on it, because you did forget
What it's like to be me, with all our painful memories
Now I know why best friends aren't girlfriends
It's been so long since we got along at all
