things will be different, this I promise you
life just changes so fast, and we can't forget our pasts Spend so much time together but we're not getting any better Talk online all night, hoping not to fight
I used to call you sweetheart
I'd call you every night
Now you're with my best friend
And all we do is fight
I guess this is what you'd call life
It seems like nothing ever goes right
I don't want to move on from you

But you're forcing me
We'll try this all again
But you'll just end up with him
I just go on thinking we'll still just be friends
I guess this is what you'd call life
It seems like nothing ever goes right
I don't want to move on from you
But you're forcing me
life just changes so fast, and we can't forget our pasts
