I gotta be quiet, honest i didnt know what i got into when i saw you at the rock club. standing in the corner by yourself so i walked on over with a nervous feeling deep inside. i asked for your number and if i could call you up sometime. take it back. i dont want it, im all set, thanks anyway. you said youre feeling sick and if you could borrow 25 dollars. i said id like to, but i dont have the cash to lend today. then you kissed me gently saying there is more where that came from. i dont know about it, maybe another place another time
