Mom and Dad, this one's for you
How does it feel
To see your proud foundation fall?
Fucked up family
The brick wall
That you built so proudly

Tumbling down in shame
The same old story
Rotting me away
From the inside out

Mom and Dad, this one's on you
Your crystal ball
Didn't see this one coming
Everything's just fine
Ignore the crime

Nothing can make you fall

Your reputation's scratched
Tarnished with the truth
The "serpent" slipped right through
And there's no going back
Once you've seen the truth

Your futile efforts to train them in tradition
Have only given way to mutiny
Always falling short of expectations
But there's no falling from disgrace

I'm not coming home
