Your guns, your uniforms, your badges, in my eyes they brand you a fascist. For everything you've ever done I hope one day the tables are turned on you, fuck you, every last one of you. This unchecked and this ignored violence, this unending belligerent corruption is the calling card of all your kind. There's no redemption for you in my mind. For everyone that you have abused, for everyone that you have dehumanized I'll curse your name until the day I die and I promise, I fucking promise one day your end will come. We will rise up to tear you down
