"The Endemic"

Drifting silently towards the end of the world,
I'm falling fast from the caress of humanity.
We've let this slip away. To reverse the past is all i want, for wiping my tears will only stain my blood.
Please bleed forever. I will watch.
Burn everything and follow the flames. Under the pale night sky i wander in search for you. Lost forever past all belief.
I am left again, to bear this alone.
You said this would never end.
But now you're gone, and i'm right here.
Holding dead roses from the past.
You take me to unconscious darkness.
Hide your face and be my poison.
As i bury this knife into my body.
Remove your skin, the infection now begins.
