Tell me, was it really so hard?
Is it the price you should pay?
Tell me, was it really so hard?
I've got something to say
Cause nobody will ever bring these feelings back
Still nobody will listen to you
I stare at the sky when I play this song
I hope it will fly with you
All of them were looking to the ground like children
Lost and stupified with their blindness
They'd got nothing to say

There is no one you can charge but you
There is no one you can change but you
There is no one you can kill but you
