A careless word, a frozen smile, the little signs all passed me by
But something's changed inside your heart you can't deny
When I was yours and you were mine your love was sweet and life was kind
We can't go back to the start you can't deny
A change of heart

A change of heart no body knows
The wandering wind where it blows
So for tonight if you must go then you'll be true
To your change of heart

The course was set in one straight line and how your stares they echoed mine
We can't go back to the start you can't deny

A change of heart no body knows
The wandering wind where it blows
So for tonight if you must go then you'll be true
To your change of heart

Have I been looking the wrong way all this time?
What kind of fool does that make me?
Giving a glance at the truth, how long did it take me?

The things we'd say at the same time
And how your steps would echo mine
Why can't we can't we go back to the start?
You can't deny a change of heart, ooh
A change of heart, ooh
Your change of heart, ooh
A change of heart
