Shaken from a dream, morning came easily
Walking by the sea, Sophie heard a whispering
Saying
"Don't forget me,
It's not so easy to love this honestly."

Considering the moon, she's never too soon to sleep
All the through the day, she's choosing the dreams that She'll keep
Running away, she counts the beats of her heart
As leaves start to fall desperately Sophie's in a dream, and through the leaves she speaks
Quietly

She says
"Don't forget me,
It's not so easy to love so honestly
And please forgive me
'Cause everybody can see what has to be."

Taken from a dream, Sophie rises wearily
Staring at the sea, she's choosing the dreams that She'll keep
Running away, she counts the beats of her heart
As stars start to fall quiet Sophie's in a dream, and through a dream she's speaking
To me

She says
"Don't forget me,
It's not so easy to love this honestly
And please forgive me
'Cause everybody can see what has to be."
