I'm here to say there is nothing to explain. I drank your wine but I didn't assimilate... honey... you will never see me but before, you will kill me, it's sure. It's hard to find the right way for paradise. But you are there, you seem so far but so glad. 'Cause I know I don't feel alone when I think you dancing in a store of carillons and I hope You'll take good care of me. I'd like to be an angel just like you ('cause I know) you spread your wings and fly around my thoughts ...and I fall in a state of recollection and I broke out of my dirty condition. It's sad to say but there's nothing to explain. I am your friend and nothing more again... I'm trying to say goodbye to you but I don't...I don't want!!! I'd like to be an angel just like you ('cause I know) you spread your wings and fly around my thoughts ...and I fall in a state of recollection, and I broke out of my dirty condition. But I know you will never be in my soul ...and my soul is nothing without you... I won't live...anymore!
