Do you remember me? I was the girl about five foot three
Do you remember my eyes? Blue, blue as the skies Do you remember my dress? The blue one with the white flowers
But it got all wet 'cause of the April showers

Do you remember? Cause I remember
All the nights wishing that we were kissing
Do you remember? Cause I remember
All the nights wishing that we were kissing

I look a little different than before, now I am five foot four
And my hair's no longer pink, I washed that color down the sink
I've got a few more things pierced, and I think they look well fierce
And one day I hope you'll see, and they will make you love me

Do you remember? Cause I remember
All the nights wishing that we were kissing
Do you remember? Cause I remember
All the nights wishing that we were kissing

It's been a while and I learned new tricks
And now I'm almost five foot six Wondering just where you are, could you really be that far
Maybe if you saw me today, you'd see me in a different way
See me in another light and love me whatever my height

Do you remember? Cause I remember
All the nights wishing that we were kissing
Do you remember? Cause I remember
All the nights wishing that we were kissing

Do you remember, remember? No, not the fifth of

November

But the twelfth of March, when you broke my heart

Do you remember, remember? No, not the fifth of

November

But the twelfth of March, when you broke my heart

When you broke my heart

When you broke my heart
