Somewhere you are, my everything, my all
How could I ever forget, how could I ever let you fall
I held you when life left you, a piece of me then left too
A piece of me then left too.

That day my soul turned inside out
I couldn't scream for her to stop, though my whole body wanted to
Now I'm left here without you
And your soul is one billion years away.

You're not here,
You're in your heavenly fields
Soon I'm coming,
Can't wait to see you running

I stopped counting one river ago
I miss you
Don't know how many tears that I've cried
I miss you

You're not here!
