Before you go into all of this I think you should know
We all end up at the hospital waiting to go
The circumstances are criminal, you gotta be aware
We never notice what's all around 'til it isn't there

And in a minute you take what you can and give until it hurts
I can remember you overlooking skylines for a change

You take another and you look around and you understand
It's just a new set of keys to use, it's no masterplan

And in a minute you take what you can and give until it
hurts
I can remember you overlooking skylines for a change

I can still hear you Laugh at something I
Say without a word
Such a dirty world

And in a minute you take what you can and give until it
hurts
I can remember you overlooking skylines for a change

Before you go into all of this I think you should know
We all end up at the hospital waiting to go
