Every single day is another test of my will.
Confusion never dies it just stands still.
And all we are is emptiness and a little space to fill.
Have you ever come to realize it wasn't enough to kill me.

???Cause I saw it coming and I ran the other way.
I took time to see that I'm alive today
Every time I try I end up right back where I was before, alone.
It wasn't enough to kill me!

As you walk away you were everything for me.
I'm living for today so my worries can't destroy me.
Cause I am stronger with everything you do
But everything is soaked up inside and burning through.

???Cause I saw you coming and I ran the other way.
I took time to see that I'm alive today.
Every time I try I end up right back where I was before,
Alone and burning through.

As the sky turns burning red I can live without you.
Whatever's left inside my head is doing fine without you.
Cause you never have seen the light when breathing
anger haunts you.
Well I've found this, you've found this, so take time to see.
And open up your eyes again,
Remember yesterday, today, and forever.
