The only time I've ever seen you smile, was when something wasn't right.
The only thing that ever felt this real, is this never ending fight.
Only time will tell what happens now, but I'm already here.
I hope it will relieve me of my fear, that you'll leave me all alone.

Don't lie to me don't be afraid. The only thing that will hurt you is yourself.
So why wrap this happiness in hell. I don't need to know.

Times have changed been rearranged. Everything is now cut and dry.
These open wounds will never heal for you.

Go, it's not best that you stay. It's a must that you go,
holding life on the way.

Hole deep inside my soul from the lack of control. I do not have to change.

Every time it some how turns to me. This blame I shouldn't take.
I only hope that one day you will see all the problems
you create.
My patience now is slowly wearing thin for this dramatic act again.
Hope you're ready for the day, when I leave you all alone.

Don't lie to me don't be afraid. The only one that will
hurt you is yourself.
So why wrap this happiness in hell? I don't need to know.

Don't grieve for me...
