I see the hatred on your face
I feel your lips shiver and shake Your eyes are glass and your head is weary

I shared the anger that I made
You felt my lips quiver and quake
The momentsÂ' past has made me weary

IÂ'll keep you warm before the night
This time IÂ'm torn, thereÂ's something wrong but you are not right
Hold me still for days on end
For the time it takes for me to make the same mistake
again

I hear the heart beat in your chest
I feel it pound against my head Now my eyes are glass and your voice is breaking

I feel the salt run down my cheek ItÂ's all for you, thereÂ's none for me Still your eyes are glass and I grow weary

IÂ'll keep you warm before the night
This time IÂ'm torn, thereÂ's something wrong but you
are not right
Hold me still for days on end
For the time it takes for me to make the same mistake
again

You try your best to fall asleep
His broken heart inside your timepiece
I couldnÂ't do my part it seems One day youÂ'll wake to find yourself inside my dreams
Your world is glass and it is breaking
Your world is glass and it is breaking

IÂ'll keep you warm before the night
are not right

Hold me still for days on end
For the time it takes for me to make the same mistake
again
I'll keep you warm before the night
This time I'm torn, there's something wrong but you
are not right
Hold me still for days on end
For the time it takes for me to make the same embrace
again
