Take tight my hand and come
now it's your chance, try it... don't be afraid and jump...
the never-ending starts holds you in its arms...

Down here you'll find the most exciting...
here you'll find my treasure... and just look how the bright blue ocean gives you its light...

Turning back to your world,
now there is no way...
that's the price to pay for curious...

now you belong to our race
just forget your legs and your previous life...

Let your body be swept away by the waves and think this is a dream from which you will never wake up...
Cannot believe this embodiment my lips get damp with the salt
all I can see is strange for me
this land is the dream all would like to live,
but I'm caught
