hey there little girl we used to have the greatest times speaking up and laughing out inside the storm that we've called life said we'd never grow apart, life just worked out that way i guess there's no real need to make a fuss, life's a new adventure every single day.

breaking up never had to be, so hard to do when you put the foot inside of, the other shoe it's just another raindrop in a bucket of dew, it's just another love affair we both outgrew staring at all those little pictures that we both left behind i crack a smile and remember all the shared good times and sometimes i wish you could hear my voice singing to you on all those rainy days, because it says to you with a sparkle and shine i hope your doing ok.

time marches on and we're left to find something brand new,
so keep marching along and singing a song, better days are ahead for me and I hope you.
