Euthanyze me and make it painless
If I'm the loser than let's replay this
And all along friends are the ones who stay
Now in the end you just walk away
Every other now and then
My thoughts drift back to when Everything just seemed so right
She was always by my side
Now looking back it seems
She was the girl of my dreams
Everything is so unreal
I want to tell her how I feel
There's so many things that I would like to say
But I don't think they'll matter she's a million miles away
And even if I had a chance to stay
I'd probably blow it she's the one that go away
And walking home today
Think of why she went away
She told me everything
I still thought that it would be ending
She said this much is true
I have to get over you
'Cause you're so insecure
I always wanted this to work
