I wake up in the morning light
And I see
Something's in the shadows
And it calls to me
I'm squinting in the day light
And it's not very clear
One thing I know for sure
She's still here

I wake up in the morning light
What have I done
It was a real good idea at the time
Yea, she's the one
Now I'm searching for my dignity
Even my dog looks at me with disbelief
One of my biggest fears
She's still here

I wake up in the morning light
She's been hangin' around my house all night
Puttin' on my robe and wearing my slippers
Feeding my dog and strokin' it's whiskers
Hair's on top and lookin' funky
Eatin' my food and drinkin' my coffee
What have I done?
She's still here

I wake up in the morning light
And I see
Something's lurking in the shadows
And it calls to me
I'm squinting in the day light
And it's coming very clear
And there's one thing I know for sure
She's still here

She's still here
She's still here
It's very clear
She's still here
