[Chorus] [Drake - Singing] This shit was all I knew You and me, only And I did it all for you Still you were lonely We can work it out [Drake - Rhyming] Uh, but I guess things change It's funny how someone else's success brings pain When you're no longer involved That person has it all And you're just stuck standing there [Drake - Singing] But I'm gon need you to say something, baby Say, say somehting baby Say something baby, say, say... I'm gon need you to say something, baby I'm gon need you to say something, baby Oh oh... [Verse 1] [Drake] Uhm I am the topic of conversation This is celebration Let's toast to the fact that I've moved out my mamma basement To a condo downtown, 'cause it's all about location I'm sitting, drink wine and watch californication of life You should have been here to kick it with me We could have split this whole thing up, 50 - 50 But now I'm at the 40/40 getting bitches tipsy Killing shit, the ever so talented Mr. Ripley How I go from being the man that you argue with To me and Dwayne Carter putting out the hardest shit I should wanna go back to the one I started with But I'm addicted to this life, it's gon be hard to quit Yeah, just ask me how things are coming along You could tell me that you've never heard none of my songs As long as you end up saying one day you plan to listen Cause what's a star when it's most important fan is missing? [Chorus] [Drake - Singing] This shit was all I knew You and me, only And I did it all for you Still you were lonely We can work it out [Drake - Rhyming] Uh, but I guess things change It's funny how someone else's success brings pain When you're no longer involved That person has it all And you're just stuck standing there [Drake - Singing] But I'm gon need you to say something, baby Say, say somehting baby Say something baby, say, say... I'm gon need you to say something, baby I'm gon need you to say something, baby Oh oh...
