Forget your jacket, you won't need it
Your heart's so cold it wouldn't do anything
Let me tell you what i have, not a thing
You took it all from me

I can't forgive, i can't forget, i won't give in
Once stood so tall now only regret
I won't give in

And it's taking more from me every single day

And it's taking more then i can give

Why are you so crazy about seeing me in tears?
My eyes are permanently filling with those years
And there's something about that that makes me think
That everything about you makes me scream
