If we are hungry we will take food if we are homeless we will take shelter if we are cold we will take clothes and one day we will take it all we produce to consume for profit and for business there are no more happy campers and there's no more happy homes

'cause there is nowhere left to camp and we don't have any homes and there are more proud workers and there are no more honest politicians 'cause we don't have any jobs and this fuckin' system sucks one day we will take it all
