Go along and we will come along, destroy your sense of freedom sense of right and wrong we'll break into your livingrooms and steal trophies you made of your victims heads and replace it with yours turn the power loose and we'll aim it straight at you go along and we come along your worthless nation states turns people into money you make us taste the death of every sip of every soft drink and we won't take it no more turn the power loose and we'll aim it straight at you one day all this power will be ours
