Sometimes this world it really gets to me
All of the big heads my nerves get tested
Just when I think it's gotten the best of me
I save my worst for last
My fuse it ends I reach the final draw A sudden impulse It's time to break skulls And you don't really want to be the straw that breaks the camel's back
I see the edge and I just got to push it
I don't know what comes over me
I feel the trigger and I just got to push it
It's temporary insanity
Now I got the feeling now I've got the itch
Like an obsession I need aggression
You turn it on and I can't turn off the switch To stop the current's flow
Step in my mind if you want to come with me
Were going for a ride a mental landslide
No destination I just want to see how far we can go
You can run you can hide
You can stay right by my side
You can run you can hide
I'm gonna swallow someone else's pride
No regrets no remorse for me no way I've felt compassion it's a distraction And tell me just who the hell are you to say who is wrong or right
Make a choice pay attention or pay the price Can't live forever it's now or never Listen up and pay heed to this advice
I'm going to lose my fucking head tonight
So watch your back tonight
