There's no time to react, as the windshield cracks, it'll all be over soon
It happened so quickly, with no reactivity, I know my time has come

So let it go, and let it be, we all need someone right
now
Tell my friends, that I'll miss them, and I'm sorry I couldn't be there
Tonight

So it's December and the snow is falling faster then, you could ever catch it on your tongue Six months have passed since I've been gone, so now it's time for you to move on, and find somebody else

Tell my friends, that I'll miss them, and I'm sorry I couldn't be there

Have you ever slowed down, to think about the consequences of your actions Can we turn back time and do it right this time, I'm sorry but death is part of life
