

A Billion Ernies "Fix Me Broken"

It's hard to explain the truth when no one's there to listen to you It's hard to describe the way I see the world is treating you It's hard to believe the promise Jesus gave means so little to you It's hard to feel God's love when hate and lies overwhelm truth
Train my eyes to see only you but my hands still cling to life
Find my hope in one or the world know only one can be claimed as true Please God fix me broken give up hating give lying one world filled up
Give up hating give up lying this world's full enough
The beauty of the world is only skin deep guilded with gold
But rotten underneath
