Last night you said some words
I wish I never heard
You fell so hard in front of me
And suddenly I couldn't breathe

I tried to touch you walk away
Tomorrow is another day
Pretending this will be ok
But we know it can't stay the same

Stand still, time stands still
Who will say goodbye
The hours growing shorter
Stand still, time stands still
We are growing older
I loved you but I see it's over

The comfort of your arms
The surrender of my dignity
I'll float and mimic everything
That I know you expect of me
But I can't lie here, not I can't lie anymore

Stand still, time stands still
Who will say goodbye
The hours growing shorter
Stand still, time stands still
We are growing older
I loved you but I see it's over

I can not find a way to even measure this mistake
It feels like poison in my veins
I've been bitten by a snake
You've never cared, you never tried, and now all I do is cry
But why

Stand still, time stands still
Who will say goodbye
The hours growing shorter
Stand still, time stands still

We are growing older
I loved you but I see its over

I loved you but I see its over
Its over
