Oh my God, where have you been?
I need you. Take me in.
Oh, my God, where have you been?
I need you. Take me in.
This life, these lies, oh lord, I've tried.

Shelter isn't as I thought it'd ever be.
This home isn't quite as loving as me.
Nothing has been as it seems since you fled the scene,
and nothing has led me to believe in anything other than me.
How could I be so blind?

Everyone open your eyes!
This love fills absence in you,
absence in me.
Fate sets in and you will sink alone.

My thoughts are weary, but I know I will hold strong.
My roots sink deep in the ground,
Like anchors in the depths of this song.
